

NCAGT at Home

(Resources for Educators and Parents/Guardians During COVID-19)

NCAGT seeks to provide information for educators and parents/guardians who are supporting gifted children at home during this unprecedented time. Turning to trusted partners such as the National Association for Gifted Children, the NC Department of Public Instruction, other national and state gifted associations and colleges and universities, NCAGT provides recommended resources through the links on this page. However, while these resources have been curated by NCAGT they should not be viewed as an endorsement or as approved by our association.
